

eKnowledge

Central searchable knowledge base

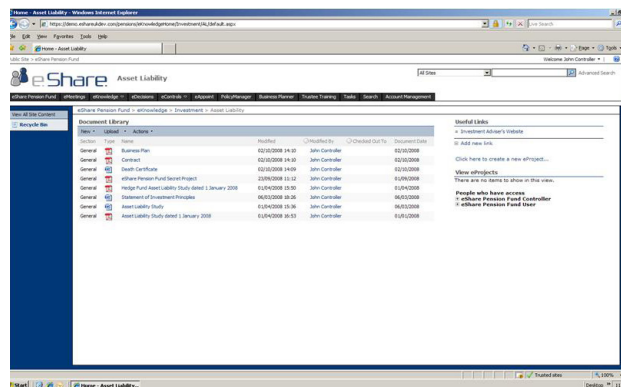

Keep track of all the documents needed for managing your board and committees with eKnowledge: a central, searchable and version controlled knowledge base.

Knowledge management workspace

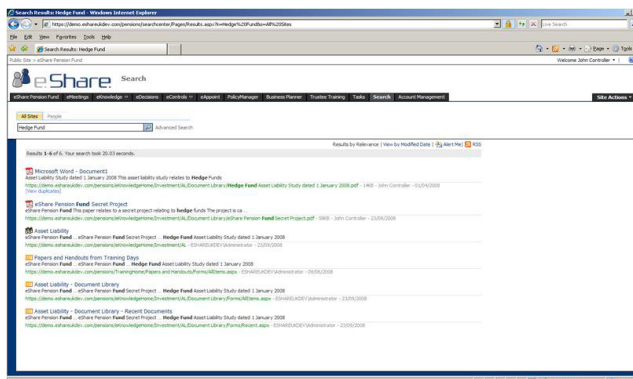

Documents can be produced through eShare with many people working on them using the check in/out, alerting and version history functionality.

The documents are then stored within eKnowledge and can be categorised, with you having full control of the library structure.

Users can set up alerts to notify them when a document is changed, updated, or when something matching a particular search criteria is uploaded into eShare.

Everyone has access to the most current version of any document, and individuals no longer need to maintain their own document store, which is beneficial by:

- Reducing paper burden by eliminating the need to store physical papers
- Less security risks of duplicate copies
- Less duplicate copies being stored on personal computers
- Using less paper so setting a green example
